Pandora The Naughty Pup

The Original ReadMe of the First Pandora Graphic

Take hanging around on FurNet, sprinkle with some hermaphrodite art I had gotten sent to me, add a dash of working on 'toonish styles and then top with a generous portion of subconscious urges...

I had a VERY odd dream. "Pandora, the Naughty Pup", in full-blown WB Golden Age style animation, with backgrounds by Disney studios, using modern character models, with the whole thing narrated by Sterling Holloway. A certain rabbit by the name of Doodles (FurVetters will immediately recognize him, as will many MUCKers) made a cameo appearance as well, playing the 'toon djinni to great effect, granting Pandora her not-very-well worded wish in return for her enthusiastic services.

This will lack a great deal, as the sound of ol' Sterling intoning in that slightly hoarse tenor drawl: "Pandora loved only one thing more than herself, and do you know what that was? It was a big... large... juicy... throbbing... cock!" kinda made the whole thing work.

It was a wonderfully clear, lucid, orderly and very well detailed dream. Aside from the thing being in 3-D and not being on a movie screen, it was an animated short subject in all it's glory, only not the type you'd normally see in the theatre, unless the movie palace is called "PussyCat Adult Movies- swamped out on the hour, every hour! No waiting! Cum as you are!"

There was even background music (though I can't recall it clearly), with brass denouements blaring darkly away during those moments of dramatic tension, and strings and woodwinds adding to the effect when Pandora went off like a moist little depth charge. But the best part of it all was Sterling Holloway's narration of the story as it unfolded.

This much-reduced, quick overview won't come close to doing it justice, as Mr. Holloway's narration played a crucial role in setting the mood. I'm also shortening/editing and rewording it drastically, but the story basically went like this:

Pandora was a vain, selfish and thoughtlessly cruel 'toon pup. She had two things going for her; a cute body and a love of cock. Not sex, mind: she just loved penes in all shapes, flavors and forms. Sex was an incidental bonus to her.

One day, she happened across a rabbit with an unusually well-formed tool, and Pandora went to town on it. The bunny (who was secretly a djinni) was so impressed with Pandora's loving efforts, he granted her a wish. Guess what she wished for? Well, she got one, and a fine, big one it was, too.

The rabbit did warn her that it was for meant for pleasure only, and any pain she deliberately caused with it [other than the playful, physical kind; it was rather large, after all] would be returned manyfold.

After checking on its working condition (which she found very satisfactory, indeed) Pandora decided that something more than a DIY approach was needed. She decided that Good Old Willow would be the perfect sucker for her to try it on.

Willow was a sweet-natured cat who didn't have any cute looks or nice boobs working for her. Pandora had delighted in subtly tormenting her for years, the pair of them knowing each other since childhood.

Pandora had secretly gotten Willow into trouble, stolen her boyfriends, and generally made Willow's life miserable just because she could, so why stop now?

After inviting Willow over, dazzling the poor kitty with a show of friendship and care (and getting her fuzzily drunk), Pandora finally told Willow about her new addition.

Willow was overwhelmed that Pandora thought so highly of her that she'd confide such a thing to her first, and that their long friendship had brought such feelings of love and concern that Pandora was offering to form a relationship with her, with Pandora making sure that's how she thought.

Anyway, one thing led to another, and the gratuitous cum-shots were dragged out. One good thing was that they both enjoyed it, at least until Pandora was confident enough of her technique to work the field, which she proceeded to do behind Willow's back.

There finally came the fateful day where Pandora was through with Willow, and she did not let the poor kitty off easy. Pandora also decided that a final farewell "fuck-you" was in order, and began to practically rape the poor kitty. She was really getting into it, more for the power than the pleasure, and found herself getting perhaps a little too carried away. She told Willow the entire story, and how she really felt... Things got really hectic then.

Actually, Willow had started out not liking the entire thing at all, but as Pandora waxed, so did Willow, until she was really digging it.

Sterling said it best: "Well, she began to cum.... and then she came... and then she came some more, the poor pup letting loose with a veritable flood of cum until she felt like she was going to turn inside out. And still she came, squirting like Old Faithful erupting. And then she really began to cum, a raging Niagara Falls of cum, until the whole thing feeling like it was about to explode- and you know what happened then? It did." [insert huge explosion and special effects here- very wet ones].

To make matters short, Willow got a couple of gifts from Pandora's parting shot: a cute, much larger and athletically muscular body, nice boobs, and a very large schwantz in perfect working order, well broken in and ready to go- which it did quite often, into a variety of Pandora's orifices, making the pup's life a confusing mix of pain and pleasure.

Willow became very popular, but every evening she would return home to her pet. "Have you been a naughty pup?" she'd ask, and Pandora would have to answer: "Yes." Then Willow would punish her (and this is where the leather, bondage gear and whips got dragged out), then, after the punishment was finished, make it up to the poor wretched pup... Let's just say that the pup got a lot of protein in her diet.

The thing even had a moral: "If you let your cock run your life, you're sure to wind up pussy whipped."

Hey! I never said I was normal!

You do get a quick GIF out of the deal, so don't complain.
