LAFFIN' GAS

An Idea, A Subject and the Talent

When Steve Schanes approached me with the idea that I edit a bi-monthly humor magazine called Laffin' Gas, I was interested. When he approved my concept to have each issue be a parody of a particular subject, I accepted.

With the easy part out of the way, we settled down to picking some worthwhile subjects, and rounding up talent. My hope is to look at the lighter side of various trends and hot items both within the field of comics, and without. The issue you have in your hands deals with the latest craze in "Mutant Ninja Samurai Warrior Soldier Animal" type comics. As is well known, Eastman and Laird (now known as the "Turtle Guys") put out a very successful Ronin parody. Then came the almost as successful "Radioactive Hamster" version. Suddenly, there was a population explosion of mutant animals. We couldn't resist.

In this issue we were lucky enough to line up Chin and Parsonavich, to do a parody of their own book; talented newcomer Andy Ice (who will be pencilling the upcoming "Alien Ducklings" in the October issue); Panda Khan's Dave Garcia, Lee Marrs doing a prequel, and yours truly (What can I say? I'm in good with the editor).

There you are, I hope you like it. Next issue we take on somebody famous in Dark Light, A Third Less Heroic Than Our Regular Heroes.

NERVOUS REX #7

Written & Illustrated by WILLIAM VAN HORN!

In "SnailTale," SLOCUM reveals the precarious events surrounding his trip from Wyoming, a trip that would normally take a snail six generations.

"Tough Plucking Luck" is a side splitting story about FORKIE and REX'S discovery of what luck really is, and how to avoid it.

Finally, in "Cold Comfort," DEARIE claims that a cold must be "driven away," and sets about to cure REX'S nasal nightmare.

32 pages, B&W on white book stock, full color laser-scanned covers.

PUBLISHER'S NOTE

In the two years since I started Blackthorne Publishing, Inc., we've grown tremendously. As you know, we started out publishing the successful Reuben Award Winner series, our Blackthorne Comic Strip Preserves series, and a handful of Limited Edition Artist Portfolios.

Here in July of 1986 we are up to ten new products per month. We've expanded our product line to include: original black and white comics, three dimensional comics, trade paperback books and limited edition trade hardcover books, and plans for a full color line are in the works.

Our staff has grown to include Paul Tallerday and Lynn Cobb, two of the finest art production people you'll find anywhere; Shel Dorf; Cliff MacGillivray, who on a part time basis handles the marketing and promotions and some of the editorial load; and of course, my partner, wife and friend, Ann E. Fera who handles customer service as well as circulation.

We are still a small company, and haven't yet started to work with "many of the big names," but have been able to work with and develop some up-and-coming talented newcomers. People like William Van Horn, Robert L. Crabb, Steve Huston, Nicholas Koenig, Mark Wayne Harris, Dwayne Ferguson, Andy Ice, Dave Garcia, John Williams, Hank Mayo, Walter Stuart, and many, many more.

We have been able to put our an excellent product mix, and bring it to the readers only with the help of our distributors and the retailers who gave our titles an opportunity to reach the buying public. Their efforts are greatly appreciated.

We've only just begun, and we've got a long way to go, and lot of big things waiting to happen. So stay with us, you'll be glad you did.
