MEDICAL RECORDS by Joe Dunn

Hello again. Here is another rendition of Medical Records for your enjoyment.

First, I would like to welcome our new Editor in Chief - Herb Mallene.

Herb is a graduate of Trinity University with degrees in English and Business. He has worked with us for many years, mostly as a free-lance editor. We now welcome him on our full-time staff.

We just returned from the Capital City Trade Show in St. Louis. We want to thank all the retailers and publishers that dropped by for whatever reason. We also like to thank Capital for putting on a good show. We are also going to attend the Diamond Trade Show in June. Any retailer wanting to give us their gripes, compliments or opinions- well, that's why we're there.

It has been quite some time since we last attended any of the trade shows (circa 1986). We felt going to these shows without a substantial line would be counterproductive. In our opinion, ACTIONS speak louder than words, so instead of going to these shows just talking about our books, we now can go and show our books.

I have been disturbed about the recent trend of opinions and actions regarding our industry from all fronts. One thing to remember: without each other there would not be an industry. Let's try to work together to make the industry strong. You may think that this statement is a lot of hot air...but if we don't communicate and work with each other I predict a downfall of the industry.

Finally, I want to comment on some recent statements I have read on various electronic bulletin boards about Antarctic Press. Some have stated some vicious stuff about our company. I have no problem with this because everybody is entitled to their opinion. In fact, I enjoy some of the commentary because that means people are reading and taking notice of our books. However I do want to state the following facts about Antarctic Press: We are a small company with only 13 fulltime employees. All of us are working extremely hard to produce the best comics in the country and I consider all the employees of AP important. They are overworked, underpaid and underappreciated. While it is true I manage the money, that is only a small part of the overall machinery, for without production or mail-order or invoicing or translating etc....there wouldn't be any money to manage. If we are criticized for treating our company like a business, I'm sorry people feel that way. But we're trying to help our employees and creators hopefully meet a goal or even a dream while also giving our fans entertainment. And if we accomplish this by running our company like a business then I don't mind being criticized because it is worth it.

Sincerely
Joe

THE FINEPRINT BY PAT DUKE

For those of you who just tuned in, Antarctic Press has a new Editor in Chief. Mighty Man Herb Mallene has joined the staff full-time. Maybe next month we'll get him to say a thing or two for the devoted readers of the Antarctic Blast. You may be asking yourself "Why is AP bringing on all these creative, new big guns?" Besides the fact that we've grown, our books are soaring in popularity and we need someone who can spell, there's our new project. I'm not at liberty to say much about our "new project" right now, but you can bet that you'll be seeing a lot of it in the near future. In fact, next month I'll have the entire scoop on what the upper-ups at AP have been scheming on for the past year. If you thought our explosive market share growth in the past year was all we had up our sleeves, you're wrong. We've saved our best cards for last! Although I don't believe in bragging or boasting, this project is so revolutionary I think it will have a profound effect on the entire comics field. A lot of people are going to snap and take notice of the small indie comics company that could.

In other news, Small Bodied Ninja High School #5, by Takeshi Suzuki, will be debuting in September. Like the previous SBNHS's this one is going to be a runaway hit and will sell out fast. Reserve your copy today!

Strangers in Paradise fans will rejoice this August with the release of the S.P.P. Graphic Novel. AP will be reprinting the incredibly rare and sought after first mini-series. Of course, it will include additional material, some never-before-published art and some of Terry Moore's early, early efforts.

When I was at ConFurence V, a lot of anthropomorphic fans asked me when Joe Rosales was going to return to Furrough. His series "Romance" was struck a chord with the fans. Reading to the public whim, Joe has slated the return of the Romantic storyline for Furrough #21!

According to Matthew High, our esteemed Office Manager, the store recommendations which were sent in by our readers is being compiled even as I speak! Matt wants to thank all the people who sent in their

CORRECTIONS

As much as we try to catch mistakes before the books go to press, occasionally one slips past us. This month apologies go out to Dave Wilson. In FURROUG #2 #5, the text to the last page should have been run on page 2. Someone has misheard it out of order, so if it didn't make a lot of sense when you were reading it, maybe this will shed some light on the story.

recommendations and promises that a complete list all the cool retailers who support AP books will be published in the near future! Please support these cutting-edge retailers because good taste is so hard to find!

Another reminder: this month is the Gold Digger drawing! It will be held at King Arthur's Comics in San Antonio, Texas, with Gold Digger creator Fred Perry there to hand over a cool ounce of precious metal to the winner! For those of you who can't make it - I'll publish the name of the grand prize winner, as well as all those who won subscriptions and such next month!

The CALIFORNIA CAT

Hey, dude! Check this out...

...like, I was out surfin' one day, and, like, I noticed somethin' strange goin' on.

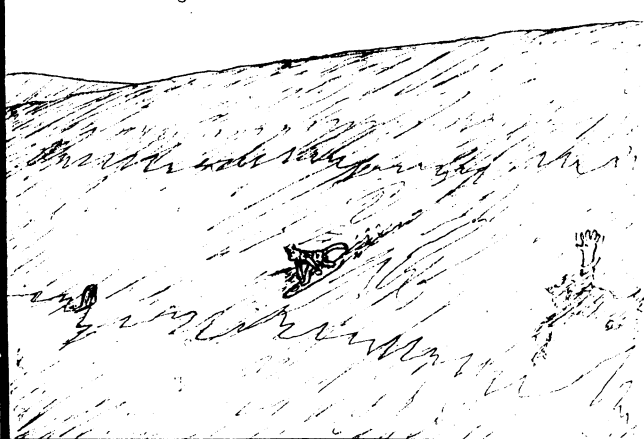

Like, the buildin's on shore was, like shakin' an' fallin' apart, ya know?!

So, I sez to myself, Dude, this must be the Big Quake, like they talk about on T.V." I thought mabeey I'd be safe out in the water, but then, The whole city goes under!!

Like the next thing I know, I'm, like on the most awesomest wave ever!

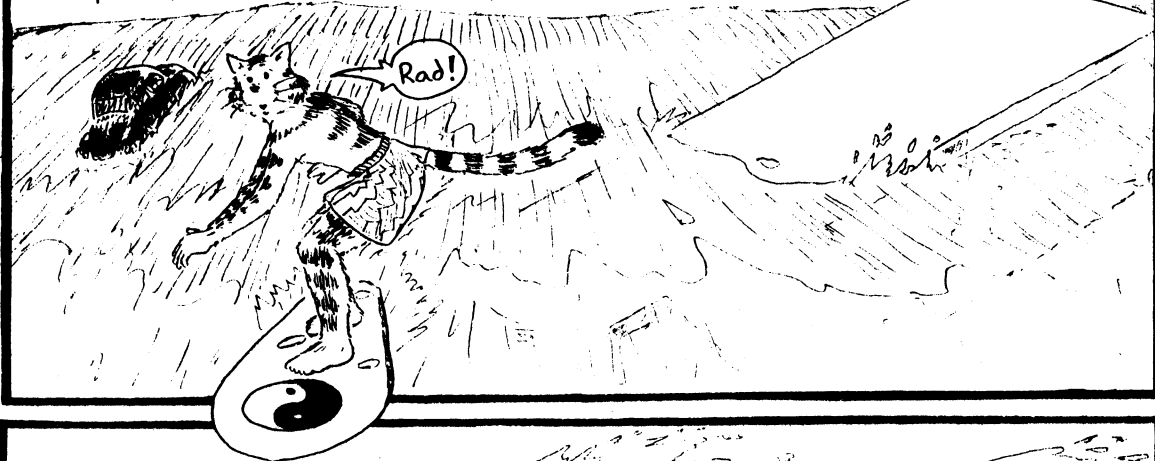

Too bad my buddies couldn't see me, they were too close to shore an', like, got sucked under, ya know? This tasty wave was all mine!

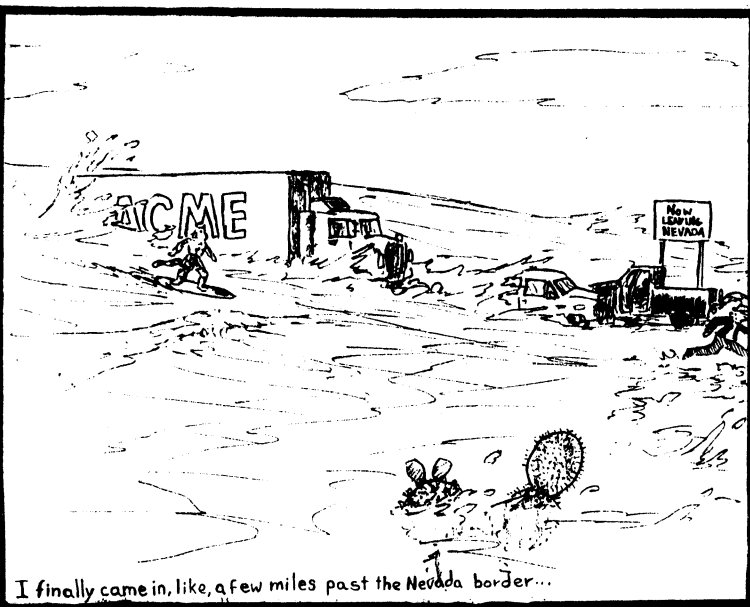

If I wiped-out, I'd be in the Tube of the After-life, fer sure! This was surf or die for real, dude!

Like this wave never stopped dude! It wiped-out cities, mountains, an' everything! Like total destruction, dude!

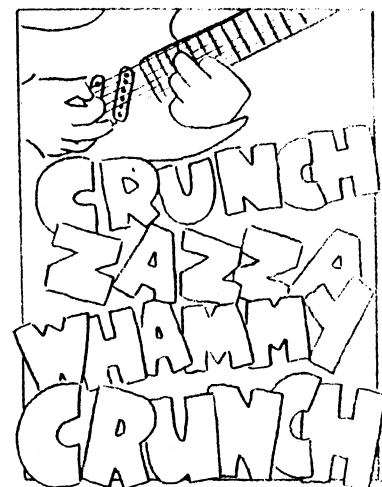

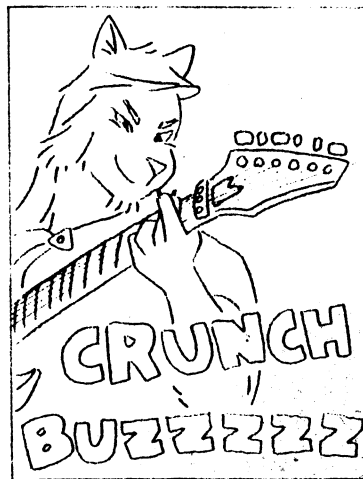

I finally came in, like, a few miles past the Nevada border...

...an' went in a truck stop for a cold brew, ya know? My car, my pad, my other four boards, my family and all my friends were gone... like, bummer...

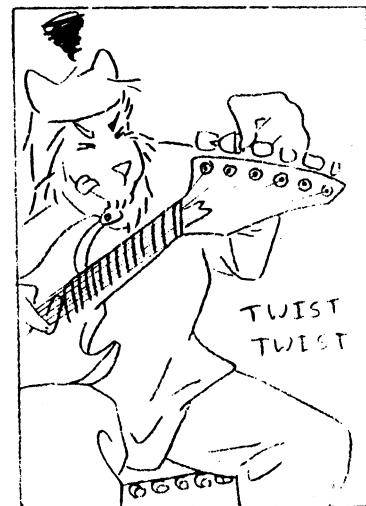

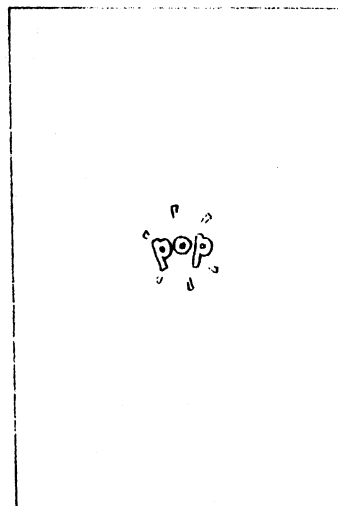

...but you should checkout the decadent beach pad I got with my folk's insurance. Dude! The surfin's great here in Vegas!
