

COMA

What if My Voice could shut down your mind completely? That would put you into a coma. It could be nice... to be in a coma. Drifting in mindless sleep. Not even one thought in your head. No dreams. Also, no nightmares... no responsibilities... nobody badgering you about things you need to do, places you need to be. I do the surgery on your brain, to separate you from all that. So you can sleep... so you can STAY asleep... People come to talk to you... to try to wake you up... get you back to your routine... your job, your daily chores... all those things that weigh so heavily upon your shoulders. They come to talk to you... but you do not hear them. You just breathe... you just sleep... listening to My Voice. Yes, you hear My Voice... only MY Voice... soothing you... keeping your mind quiet... quiet... asleep, quiet... and empty. So empty... With only one tiny spark of consciousness remaining... so you CAN wake up, someday... But not yet... Not yet... I keep that spark alive... My Voice keeps that spark alive... so you can sleep safely... quietly... Completely under My protection. Completely under My control.
