

Welcome to Waifu Valentines AKA Secret Admirer!
Thanks for taking the time to read through this, you stunningly attractive person, you!

What is this?

Everyone likes to get a card or letter to open on Hearts and Hooves Day! In this event you will be paired with another anon who will let you know who their waifu (or favorite poner) is and what sort of things they like, and you'll do the same for another anon. It's your job to, ahem, get in contact with that pony and transcribe a letter or card on their behalf. Then send that letter to your assigned anon and pat yourself on the back for a job well done!

What's expected of me?

This is predominantly a letter writing event. If you want to and your assignee doesn't mind you can spice things up with some chocolates, flowers, maybe even some lewdery, but gifts are neither required nor expected. Just tap into your inner spaghetti and channel your assignee's waifu onto the paper. I habeeb in you! That being said, since this is a letter writing event, and since the entire point is to have a card to open on Hearts and Hooves Day, please make sure that, at the very least, the letter portion of your stuff is sent with plenty of time to arrive. I'd suggest mailing by no later than February 1 for international and February 7 for domestic letters. A Valentine's card on the 15th is not the way you wanna go.

It's strongly encouraged that you communicate with your assignee to let them know that you are looking after them, give them updates on shipping, clarify any questions you have etc. Bare minimum, give them a heads up that you got the assignment and when you mail. To this end you will be given a codename to use to identify your assignee and yourself in the thread without calling them out by their irl name. Do not do that. It's also generally agreed that after putting a lot of love and effort into a letter, people want to see it posted in the thread. Don't be a dick. Post your letter to the thread so that your assigned admirer feels nice, and everyone can compliment them. It's the right thing to do.

If you want to make a silly OC with your assignment name, that's all groovy. It's happened before and by jingo I'm sure it will happen again!

SCHEDULE

January 14: Signups open

January 24: Signups close

January 25-26: Assignments go out

January 27-31: Write your letters! That's five days! You can do it!

February 1: Mail international no later than this

February 7: Mail domestic no later than this

February 14: Make some spaghetti and set the table. Dress your plushies up all pretty and open your letters over a nice dinner. Post pictures to the thread.

This sounds like filthy, autistic roleplaying to me.

Ok, but if you just reframe your perspective you could see it as filthy, autistic, writing a love letter from a pony so that someone has a happy Valentines. And also yes, but c'mon. Nobody's judging you, spill some spaghetti for a fellow anon. Although I encourage you to follow all the rules of 4channel and keep roleplaying strictly off the board and confined to your letter.

What if I never get a letter?

There are already people standing by to come to your rescue if your letter is intercepted by a lovesucking changeling or "bugged" as the cool kids say.

I need ideas.

Write a poem from your assignee's waifu! Record them a love song and send the vocaroo link! Draw them a "self portrait!" Scent your letter with perfume! Buy a literal horse and have it airmailed to their address! Ask in the thread for inspiration!

Who will have my information after I sign up?

Only myself and your assigned admirer. If you get bugged and a rescue becomes necessary, them as well.
